1. Finding and filtering vehicles

The public website provides these filters:

- Vehicle: make and/or model, such as Audi or Audi Q4.
- Variant: part of the stored variant description.
- Fuel and transmission: search terms matching the stored vehicle details.
- Net offer price from/to: minimum and maximum price excluding VAT.
- Mileage from/to: minimum and maximum kilometres.

Choose Filter (AND) after entering your criteria. Every completed field must match. For example, Audi, a maximum net price of €30,000 and mileage up to 80,000 km return only vehicles meeting all three conditions. Individual limits may be left blank. A minimum must not exceed its maximum.

Reset clears the filters. If too few vehicles appear, start with fewer criteria. Vehicle and variant text comes from supplier information; try shorter terms in the language used in the listing.

Search by stock number or select multiple fuel and transmission values. All equipment keywords must occur.

2. Cards and vehicle details

Cards show vehicle description, first registration, mileage, colour, price, a description excerpt, stock number and available photos. Use View vehicle to open its detail page.

Details include available photos and information on power, fuel, transmission, colour, description and equipment. Click a photo to open it larger. Back to vehicles returns to the list; reapply search filters if needed.

An image marked “Frisch eingetroffen – Bilder folgen in Kürze” (just arrived – photos coming soon) is a placeholder, not an image of that particular vehicle. Confirm missing information, partial registration dates and equipment against the specific offer before deciding to buy. The website does not replace checking vehicle condition and equipment.

Select vehicles for a PDF, choose German or English and download the offer. Equipment is included in full.

3. Prices, VAT and delivery

The main price is net. A calculated price including 19% VAT is also shown in brackets. Price filters always refer to net amounts, including when using the English interface.

The standard notice means: price negotiable including freight, collection is not possible, subject to prior sale. The individual offer establishes binding price, delivery and tax details, seller and contract terms. Read the offer information.

This website brokers vehicles from other suppliers. It has no shopping cart or online payment. Clicking a vehicle or sending an enquiry does not immediately purchase it.

4. Choosing German or English

Choose Language and Regional format separately at the top right; both settings save automatically. The public website remembers both settings in this browser. The format affects how prices are displayed. Offers are denominated in euros. Vehicle data and supplier text appear in their original language.

The privacy notice explains the language cookie. German is the default unless you explicitly select a language.

In German, the website also shows the gross price including 19% VAT. German (Austria) and English display the net price only.

5. Enquiring about a vehicle

1. Note the vehicle's stock number.
2. Open Contact in the footer or go directly to the contact form.
3. Enter an email address and a message of 10 to 5,000 characters. Name/company and subject are optional. Include the stock number in the subject or message.
4. Choose Send enquiry and wait for the on-screen confirmation.

No automatic confirmation email is sent. The website operator handles your enquiry and may reply to your email address. Contact details are also in the legal notice. Do not send copies of identity documents or unnecessary sensitive information.

6. Common questions

Why can I no longer find a vehicle?

It may be unavailable or unpublished. Reset your filters and enquire using its stock number if needed.

Why are photos or details missing?

Recently added vehicles may initially have a placeholder and incomplete details. Enquire about the specific vehicle.

Can I buy as a private customer?

Brokerage offers on this website are exclusively for business buyers.

Do I need an account?

Inventory, vehicle details, this manual, contact and legal pages are available without signing in.

Why is some content still German after selecting English?

Controls and fixed notices are translated; individual vehicle/equipment text and image captions may remain in the original language.

Contact, legal notice, privacy, offer information and this user manual are always linked in the footer.

Internal transport processing and payment recording are handled exclusively in the protected administration. The public website does not offer transport ordering.
